VII. New Business

1. East Chester Project-Kevin Taylor and Chris Gaddy
Kevin Taylor, Pastor of Ember Church in Chester, SC thanked Council for giving him the opportunity to speak about the home ownership initiative for the East Chester Project. Mr. Taylor stated Ember Church is in the process of building a home in East Chester with the help of York Tech. The Church is supplying the money for the materials and York Tech is building the house. The house will not be giving away but sold this way the new owner would be fully invested in the project and would work to make sure the home would be something the community would be proud of. Once the house sells they hope to start the process over. He thanked the County, City and Chester County Forfeited Land Commission for donating this property and other properties in Chester to help build the community back up.
2. Millage Rates for Tax Year 2016-Donnie Wade
Donnie Wade, Chester County Auditor stated this was a reassessment year with some very small drop offs but were able to stay pretty even this year. By law they have to stick to a calculation in a rollback year. Basically it means in a re-assessment year you take the values and divide them by the adjustment assessment value of the properties and subtract out any new growth. New growth would be anything that is permitted such as a room addition or anything that has not been previously taxed and leaves you with the reassessed values. Council Member Lucas motioned to accept the millage rates for 2016, 2nd by Council Member Holcombe. Vote was 5-0 to accept.
3. C-Funds- John Agee
John Agee, Richburg Fire Chief stated he would like for County Council to ask the Attorney General for his opinion if fire department parking lots can be paved. Mr. Agee stated he more than likely will say no, this will give the Fire Association of South Carolina the ability to go to the legislature and try to change the law so that Council can pave parking lots on public property.
